

Talking points (IP flow)

- contributors to a spec are granting a royalty-free copyright license as broad as necessary to be able to examine, study, copy, redistribute, implement the spec, and distribute conformant implementations of the spec
- similarly, contributors are granting a royalty-free patent license to implement the spec and use, sell and otherwise distribute such implementations
- the licenses should flow to everyone (all participants in a JSR, all JCP members, all licensed recipients of the spec, all those who create, use, and distribute conformant implementations)