

Java
Community
Process

JSR 364 Update

May 2015

New Agreements

- We submitted requests to Oracle Legal for drafts of three agreements:
 - Partner Membership Agreement: targeted at Java User Groups (most are not legal entities, so the JSPA is inappropriate).
 - Associate Membership Agreement: targeted at individuals who wish to make formal contributions to JSRs.
 - Employer Contribution Agreement: to obtain IP commitments from the employers of individuals who join as Full Members.

Partner Membership Agreement

- We requested a simple, high-level "Collaboration Agreement" addressing the JUG's and Oracle's mutual interest in promoting Java through the activities of the JCP.
- The draft we've agreed on after extensive discussions with Legal is longer and more "legalistic" than we would have preferred, but hopefully will be understandable by and acceptable to the JUGs.

Associate Membership Agreement

- We requested a lightweight membership/contribution agreement targeted at individuals (no employer signature required).
- The draft we received is derived from the JSPA and contains more “boilerplate language” than we might prefer, but the essential portion of the document (where the copyright and patent IP commitments are made) is only one page.
- The member asserts ownership of the IP being granted.
- The member permits the Spec Lead to list him/her by name as a Contributor to the JSR.

Employer Contribution Agreement

- We requested an agreement that subjects the employer to all of the obligations that would be incurred if they signed the JSPA itself, except that those obligations will be incurred only for JSRs that employees contribute to.
- The employer would have the option to list specific JSRs to which their employees would be permitted to contribute.
- The draft we received is derived directly from the JSPA.
- Legal pushed back on the option to list specific JSRs, suggesting that the employer rather than the PMO should police this.
- We agreed at the September f2f meeting not to oppose this suggestion.

Current status

- Oracle Legal has prepared Final Drafts of each document, based on the feedback from EC Members.
- These were published as part of the Public Review for JSR 364 (March 2015) and will be published with the Proposed Final Draft in May 2015:
 - <https://java.net/projects/jcpnext4/pages/WorkingDocuments>

Next steps

- Submit Proposed Final Draft this week; Final Approval Ballot in late May and Final Release in June.
- Continue Working Group meetings to discuss implementation details.
 - Finalize Workflow and Membership charts.
 - Review bug list of issues to be closed in next WG meeting 19 May.

Java
Community
Process

Thank You!

<http://jcp.org>